Champion Trims Vulcan 13-1 To Win Wheatbelt Baseball Cup

Large Crowd Sees One-sided Game at Champion on Sunday Winners Receive Dawson Cup

Whitewashing Vulcan by a score of 13-1, the Champion baseball team on Sunday won the deciding game of the final playoff series in the Wheatbelt Baseball league and with it the silver cup donated by Rev. Peter Dawson, M.L.A.

Although the two teams were generally conceded throughout the season to be quite evenly matched, Vulcan got off to a shaky start in Sunday's game and the steadier Champion team kept on a pressure that never left the issue in doubt. Siler of Champion, pitched an excellent game, allowing only five hits and striking out eleven batters. Vulcan started Fisher on the mound. He allowed six hits, walked four and struck out three and was replaced in the middle of the fifth by Willard, who pitched the rest of the game. Willard allowed four hits, walked two and struck out six. Both teams made seven errors.

An outstanding play was made in the third inning by Champion when they retired the runners to first base and home plate on a smart double play from pitcher to first to catcher.

On the game's play, the Champion players well deserved their decisive win and are worthy winners of the trophy emblematic of the Wheatbelt Baseball League championship.

A large crowd attended the games with over 150 carloads of fans from points as far away as Lethbridge and Carleton Place being present.

Batteries were: Champion—Siler and Watts; Vulcan—Fisher, Willard and Spaeth. J. Hubka of Carmangay and Jensen of Parkland were umpires.

Shower Honors Sept. Bride-elect

About twenty friends were gathered to extend best wishes to Marjorie to shower her with gifts for her new home. Two contests provided an hour's entertainment and were won by Mrs. G. Fulton and Mrs. W. A. Fitzpatrick.

The guest of honor was led to a gift-laden table and Mrs. Sales, on behalf of those assembled made the presentation and wished the couple many years of happiness. Mrs. Alma Syngue assisted her daughter in unwrapping the many lovely and useful presents. Marjorie very suitably thanked her friends for their thoughtfulness and kindness.

At the conclusion of the afternoon a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses.

World shortage of cereals is expected to continue through the winter according to the International food conference in Geneva.

United Church Is Scene of Pretty Wedding, Sunday

STEPHENS — CLARKSON

A profusion of summer flowers, with flower-banked altar, provided the setting for one of the prettiest weddings of the year, on Sunday afternoon at the United church, when Lila Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Clarkson, of Vulcan, became the bride of Mr. Frederick I. Stephens, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stephens, Toronto. Rev. Peter Dawson officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the youthful bride was gown in traditional white satin, with long fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. The full skirt fell to the floor and was slightly entraine, as was her daintily embroidered veil, caught to her hair with clusters of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of American Beauty roses and she wore a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Lillian Clarkson, sister of the bride was the maid of honor, while Miss Claire Fleming was bridesmaid. Both girls were gown in similar dresses of pale blue and peach taffeta respectively. Long taffetta gloves matched each dress and coronets of pale pink and white buds and arm bouquets of pink glads and white sweetpeas completed each ensemble. Small Jean Ann Fisher, niece of the bride was a dainty and charming flower girl. She wore a long gown of blue net over rose taffeta and a small sweetheart hat and carried a bouquet of blue corn flowers.

Mr. Bud Storms of Calgary attended the groom as best man, while the guests were ushered by Mr. Ford Fisher and Mr. Harris Natlock.

Mrs. W. W. Almond played the wedding march and during the signing of the register Miss Jean Martin sang "Because."

A reception for 70 relatives and friends was held at the Hotel Dobbs immediately following the ceremony. Receiving with the bridal party was Mrs. M. L. Clarkson mother of the bride, who chose for the occasion a green ensemble with brown accessories. Her corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake, white pink and white streamers, tall tapers and bouquets of flowers added to the attractive setting. Mrs. R. R. Martin and Mrs. Fleming assisted at the coffee urns. Helping in serving were Mrs. Opal Drummond, Mrs. L. F. Dawson, Mrs. Avis Weaver, Mrs. Muriel Herr, Miss Eileen Myers, Miss Elaine Allan and Miss Linda Fleming. Rev. Dawson acted as master of ceremonies, while the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. George Davey and responded to by the groom. During the reception the guests were honored with two solos, rendered by Miss Tina Hepburn of Prince Albert, Sask., and Miss Jean Martin, accompanied by Mrs. Almond.

For going away the bride chose a brown wool gabardine suit, with which she wore a white sheer blouse and brown accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens are honeymooning at Banff and Calgary. After a short stay in Vulcan they will leave to make their home in Toronto.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. F. Stephens, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Davey, and Miss Florence Pletsch, R.N. of Raymond; Mr. Ford Fisher, Macleod; Mr. and Mrs. Martin and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Storms, Mr. and Mrs. W. ### IMMIGRATION

MANY countries of relatively sparse population are in the market now for immigrants. It is contended that Canada had better step lively and decide on some active program before the cream of the European people is skimmed off by other countries. Since 1930 there has been very little migration to this country from the British Isles or Europe. Probably the only notable shift of population is the drift of Canadians across the line to United States. Just as Canada is now considering "selective immigration" from Europe, so United States has been practicing selective immigration in its relations with Canada. Many of our best and brightest young people have established themselves in United States, finding opportunities there which have not developed in their native country.

This movement south drains Canada of the returns which she has a right to expect from her educational investment. But viewed on a continental scale it is no great loss. Talent which does not find profitable expression in Canada is absorbed south of the border. There is very close association between the two countries in all developments of art, science, industry and agriculture. So it does not seem to matter seriously in which country the individual is working, so long as he is fulfilling his abilities to highest possible extent. Besides the movement either way across the line binds Canada and United States the more closely, and the closest possible relations are not only desirable but necessary for the future of this continent.

"Selective immigration" from Europe is advocated by the Canadian Senate on a vigorous basis far different from the languishing policy of the past fifteen years. On the assumption that Canada does need a greater population, the Senate recommends moving forward on that basis immediately. It is urged that offices be established in European centres to interview and make selection of suitable types. There is thought not only for agriculture and heavy labor, but for men skilled in new crafts and new processes. Preference is suggested for those who already have relatives and friends in Canada, and this would obviously be important unless it led to formidable "block" settlement. Health is emphasized as a primary consideration, and some thought would probably be given to age and adaptability. Canada cannot afford the all-too-familiar type of immigrant whose body is in Canada, but whose loyalties and sentiments are with some far-off native land.

If the recommendations of the Senate are acted upon, Canadian people must also assume a greater responsibility for assimilating newcomers and making them feel that they are a part of this country. That is a phase of the Canadianization process which has not had sufficient attention.

Premier Manning of Alberta has suggested that no immigration policy should be decided upon without consultation with the provinces, each of which has its own special occupational needs and its own limitations. It is to be hoped that some thought is given by Ottawa to Premier Manning's warning.

The requests mainly came from Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members.

Championing the rights of private stations and warning of the "dangers" inherent in a dominant government-owned radio body both judicial and competitive in character, the two opposition parties kept hammering at the bill that has the blessing of the C.C.F. and of the government.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, attacking government policy on a wide front, said he knew of no government enterprise in any other country, except in totalitarian countries, which possessed regulatory and authoritative powers to "regulate and boss and police" its competitors.

He wondered what the people of Canada would think if the government set up a Canadian daily newspaper corporation with power to regulate other newspapers, control their national advertising and dictate their editorials.

"That is what is happening today in radio," he asserted.

He criticized Mr. Coldwell's speech in support of the bill; he said that it was obvious that the government and C.C.F. leader were the Siamese twins of Canadian radio.

Much feeling was roused by the announced intention of the C.B.C. to take over the high-power frequencies of three privately-owned radio stations CFRB in Toronto, CKY in Winnipeg and CFCN in Calgary.

Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto-Eglinton, spearheaded the attack against government radio policy when he charged that private radio stations had no appeal against decisions of the C.B.C. To give the corporation power to regulate private stations was analogous to giving power to the C.N.R. to regulate the C.P.R. or Trans-Canada Air Lines power to regulate Pacific Air Lines.

A. L. Smith, (P.C.) Calgary West, fought a last ditch but apparently losing battle in behalf of the private stations in Alberta in the House of Commons discussion of the Broadcasting Act.

"In Alberta," said Mr. Smith, "we think we should be allowed to hook up the three stations we have at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge. They are almost in a line from north to south, though not quite. Why should we not be admitted to do that? Because the C.B.C. just say no."

Alberta recorded increase in butter production in July, all other provinces showing decrease.

Who Speaks For You, Mr. Farmer?

The Northwest Line Elevator Association (according to their own brief) "have taken all means available to them" and have made "six years of unremitting effort" to get the Pools taxed, and have continually criticized the Pools and Federal government but the example set by the Pools have been of benefit to growers delivering to other elevators.

Line Elevator Assertions

The line elevators' statement: "On November 25, 1941, the United Grain Growers Limited, faced with the necessity of meeting the policy of competition thus initiated by the Pools, in turn declared a patronage dividend of $200,000."

More farmers apparently benefited according to Section 29 of the line elevators' brief:

"On August 24, 1942, the association again wrote the commissioner of Income Tax a letter calling his attention to the correspondence exchanged with him on the subject of patronage dividends commencing with the association's letter of November 17, 1941, pointing out that several elevator companies had been obliged to meet the competition of the Pools by making payments of the nature of a patronage dividend and concluding with the following paragraph:

"As your department has had this matter before it now for some months we would appreciate it greatly if you would advise us as to whether or not you have reached the point of issuing a ruling which we could pass on to our member companies."

And Section 32:

"On October 31, 1942 the association interviewed the minister of finance and laid before him figures showing the extent to which patronage dividend payments were paid out of money which otherwise would have gone to the government in taxes and advised the minister that a number of the line companies had been forced during the current year to pay patronage dividends in order to meet the Pool competition."

The line elevators feel that they have made an exhaustive effort to have the Pools taxed and that nothing has been left undone that might achieve that end.

Section 51 states that:

"After six years of unremitting effort on the part of the association and its members the Pools are still enjoying practical immunity from the taxation bearing so heavily on their competitors and will continue to do so for as long as the failure to enforce the law is permitted to continue."

Wheat Pool Comment

The line elevators have used all the strength they could muster to persuade the Federal government to tax the Pools, and this support has not been denied.

Farmers delivering to the "several elevator companies" can now understand the unusual practise of line companies paying patronage dividends.

Payment of patronage dividends by line companies is so unheard of that they thought even the Minister of Finance should know about it.

If you think the effort of the co-operatives has been worth while, help them to help you by delivering all your products to the co-operatives, and particularly to Alberta Pool Elevators.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor,
Vulcan Advocate.

Dear Sir:

The statement made in your last issue by the sponsors of the new Vulcan band that I have "much experience" in band leadership was undoubtedly made in good faith but is an exaggeration of facts. Furthermore, in my opinion, the leadership should be assumed by a younger man such as Mr. W. Weale, or by one of the other more experienced bandsmen who played in the old Vulcan band.

Yours truly,
OLIVER REID
